who anxiously await the arrival of mail from the coast, for today the second twelve day gap in the steamer schedule that has occurred within two months show up off port at daybreak this morning and will in all probability be at the dock by half past seven or eight. Even with this early start the post office clerks will have to hustle if they get the papers distributed by ten o'clock tonight. The average mail is about forty sacks per day so the Ventura ought to bring about Paris, Rev. John Akina. 480 sacks. At the end of the last twelve days' interval in July, the Sonoma only brought 430 sacks but these were largely letters and a great many of the papers Doric will arrive today but it is not likely that she will carry any mail. As the next steamer to San Francisco is the Korea, September 3, mail will be dispatched to the States on the Manuka this afternoon.
